

January 27, 2014

Foster Pepper Adds Tax Attorney To Business Practice

Foster Pepper is pleased to welcome Denny Wong as a member of its Business and Tax practices, where he will add substantial depth to the local, state, federal and international tax experience of the firm. Wong has more than 30 years of experience representing clients on tax planning matters relating to corporations, partnerships and limited liability companies, as well as real estate developers and foreign investors in various U.S. real estate projects and business transactions.

"We are delighted to welcome Denny to the firm's business and tax practices. His effective counsel and considerable experience makes him an asset not only to the firm's corporate work but also to many practice and industry areas across the firm," said Ken Myer, chair of the firm's Business practice. "We look forward to the contributions he will make to Foster Pepper and our clients."

Wong received his J.D. from Cornell University, an LL.M. from New York University, an M.A. from University of California at Berkeley and his B.A. from the University of Washington.

For more information about Foster Pepper or to register for other firm communications, visit www.foster.com.

This publication is for informational purposes only and does not contain or convey legal advice.