

Introducing the Euclid Society: Managing the Clock – Making Decisions Within Statutory Timelines

Seminar

April 27, 2011 | 4:00 p.m. - 6:00 p.m.

Garvey Schubert Barer, Portland, OR

You are cordially invited by Garvey Schubert Barer's Land Use Practice, chaired by Edward J. Sullivan, to participate in a new group, which we call The Euclid Society. The group is designed specifically for Oregon planners, architects, and development consultants to discuss current legal topics affecting Oregon's unique planning system. Come connect with colleagues and friends, discuss, debate (or whine or rant) about planning issues.

Feel free to invite your co-workers and friends.

Our first meeting is April 27, 2011. The topic is "Managing the Clock – Making Decisions Within Statutory Timelines." We will be discussing:

Understanding and managing the planning timeline

Implications of the Court of Appeals recent decision in Stewart v. City of Salem

What does the 365 day outer decision limit mean to you?

AICP .75 Law-credit CM pending approval

Schedule

4:00 - 4:15 p.m. - Registration

4:15 - 5:00 p.m. - Program

5:00 - 6:00 p.m. - Reception

Registration

Register here.

Space is limited.

Please RSVP by April 22, 2011.

When making reservations, please indicate if you have special dietary needs and whether you will be joining us for the reception.

Cost

Complementary.

Introducing the Euclid Society: Managing the Clock – Making Decisions
Within Statutory Timelines

Questions

For questions, please e-mail Lauren Feeney.

Blog

Northwest Land Law Forum