

"External Obsolescence – It's Real," 2019 ABA/IPT Advanced Property Tax Seminar

Panel Discussion
March 14, 2019
New Orleans, LA

Assessors often seem to think that economic obsolescence is a figment of a taxpayer's imagination, when in fact, it is very real. Traditional notions of economic obsolescence include external factors such as industry changes or job market issues; however, factors such as climate change and tariffs can also impact a property's value.

Cynthia Fraser will participate in this panel discussion alongside other leading professionals in tax, law and valuation to examine traditional and non-traditional factors that can affect the value of a property and how to quantify the impact of these factors.

For more information and to register, visit the 2019 ABA/IPT Advanced Tax Seminars website.

Moderator:

Michele M. Whittington
Member, Morgan Pottinger McGarvey

Speakers:

Cynthia M. Fraser
Principal, Garvey Schubert Barer

John Russell Ray II, ASA
Senior Vice President, BVA Group

Clara Lee
Senior Tax Counsel, The Wonderful Company LLC

Contact

Cynthia M. Fraser

Related Services

Property Tax
State & Local Tax
Tax