

"FCC Regulations in Pandemic Time," Top of the Tower Podcast

Podcast
March 30, 2020

The COVID-19 epidemic is continuing to turn all of our lives upside down. How can broadcasters ensure they can stay on the air, continue providing information to our communities and keep our staff and families safe, while vacating crowded studios and following new guidelines for social distancing?

This Top of the Tower Podcast episode features a conversation with Melodie Virtue and addresses the many questions broadcasters are facing right now and all of the regulatory issues they need to be considering right now, including:

- What happens if you have to go silent, for instance – and what if that's during renewal time?
- Do you still need to get your public file updated?
- What will become of the FM auction that's now been postponed from April until... sometime in the future?
