

Representation of large advocacy group that seeks to quash non-party document and deposition subpoenas

Currently representing 4,000 member advocacy group seeking to intervene and quash non-party document and deposition subpoenas served on group's political consultant in New York state court.

Related Services

Litigation