

Professional Staff

At Foster Garvey, we pride ourselves on a collaborative and supportive culture among our attorneys and staff. We are committed to helping our staff attain a balance between providing high quality service to clients and having the personal time to pursue their passions and spend time with family and friends. In addition, staff members serve in leadership roles on key committees.

When asked what it's like to work at Foster Garvey, our people describe several factors that make our firm one of the best places to work, including positive work environment; challenging work; and having available the tools and training to perform at the highest level. These are just some of the reasons employees remain with us long term.

Foster Garvey is fully committed to an environment that attracts and retains diversity among all employees. We are an open and inclusive firm that supports the bias-free promotion of individuals.
