

Recent Verdict Strengthens the Growing Need for Websites to Increase Accessibility to Disabled Individuals

Legal Alert
August 14, 2017

Contact

Hillary H. Hughes

A recent case in federal district court in Florida foreshadows the beginning of an expanded reach of Title III of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). As a whole, the Act prohibits discrimination on the basis of disability. Recently, a growing number of lawsuits filed by the Department of Justice (DOJ) and private litigants threatening class action lawsuits serves as a strong caution to businesses operating websites to increase accessibility of those sites to disabled individuals.

Read the full update.