

Will contests

Will Contests. Multiple cases involving a sub-species of Will contest based upon insane delusion, in which the testator does not necessarily lack testamentary capacity, nor is being unduly influenced, but is suffering from persistent and irrational delusions as to a natural object of her bounty that materially affects that potential devisee's share. Our litigation of these cases, while difficult, led to favorable settlements on behalf of our clients.

Related Services

Trusts, Estates & Charitable Organizations