Foster Garvey is proud to announce that the firm and two of its attorneys have once again been named among the world's top advisors to high-net-worth individuals and organizations in the Chambers High Net Worth (Chambers HNW) guide for 2022.

Christine Brown (Portland) and Edward Harley (Seattle) were both recognized in this year's Chambers HNW individual rankings for their leading representation of clients in the areas of Private Wealth Law and Yachts & Superyachts, respectively.

- Christine Brown (Private Wealth Law, Oregon – Band 2) advises trust companies, high net worth families and business owners on estate planning, charitable matters and trusts. She is highlighted in the guide as “very professional and capable” by a market commentator.
- Edward Harley (Yachts & Superyachts, Global-wide – Band 2) has a broad transactional practice that includes yacht matters relating to the construction, purchase and sale of vessels. One industry source notes that he is “a great lawyer” and “a pleasure to have on the other side of a transaction.”

Additionally, Foster Garvey was recognized as top law firm to the global private wealth market in the Yachts & Superyachts category (Global-wide – Band 4), with one source applauding the Yachts, Ships & Submersibles team for being “very knowledgeable on all aspects of yachting and maritime law.”

Chambers & Partners, based in London, publishes Chambers HNW and multiple other directories that assess the world's top attorneys. Chambers HNW is the publisher's premier guide
