Foster Garvey Newsroom

Foster Garvey is pleased to announce the addition of George Bonini as a Principal in the Business & Corporate Finance practice, based in the firm's Seattle office.

For more than two decades, George has served as a dynamic and trusted legal advisor to companies navigating complex business and financial issues. He routinely advises clients on sophisticated corporate finance matters and business transactions such as cross-border deals, international and domestic tax planning, tax controversy, private equity capital raises and transactions, securities issues, and regulatory compliance.

"We are pleased to welcome George to Foster Garvey's Business team," said Hillary Hughes, leader of Foster Garvey's Business & Corporate Finance practice. "George's combination of transactional and tax experience is well aligned with the full scope of Foster Garvey's corporate practice. As we continue to grow our team, we remain firmly positioned to deliver best-in-class counsel to help our clients creatively and confidently advance their business goals."

George joins the firm from Fifth Avenue Law Group, a boutique business, securities and tax law firm that he founded in 2013. He was previously of counsel for Ater Wynne, where he focused on organizing business ventures and complex partnership transactions in addition to maintaining a robust tax practice. George earned his law degree, cum laude, from Seattle University School of Law, and he holds a Master of Laws (LLM) degree in taxation from the University of Washington School of Law. He earned his bachelor's degree in history and economics from the University of Montana.
