Established in 1972, Foster Garvey is among the first law firms in the Pacific Northwest headquartered in Seattle to open an office in Washington, D.C. Our attorneys assist clients across diverse service areas and industries such as Cannabis; Transportation & Logistics; Communications, Telecom & Media; Election and Political Law, Public Policy & Lobbying; and Financial Services. We regularly counsel our clients on regulatory and advocacy matters and compliance before federal, state and local government agencies.

The Communications, Media & Telecom practice received national honors in the recent U.S. News-Best Lawyers® listing of “Best Law Firms.”

Our attorneys are well-known throughout the community and serve on several boards of organizations, including Native Public Media, Public Media Company, Hennock Institute and Epilepsy Foundation Legal Defense Fund. In the broadcasting community, Brad Deutsch is a frequent contributor to radio broadcast publications, including the Radio Advertising Bureau’s Radio Matters blog, InsideRadio and Radio World. Melodie Virtue also presents regularly at industry conferences, including the National Federation of Community Broadcasters Community Media Conference, National Association of Broadcasters Leadership Foundation and the Public Radio Engineering Conference, and is a frequent contributor to broadcasting publications, including the Communications Daily, Radio & Television Business Report and Radio World.
