Our intellectual property litigation attorneys work closely with clients to develop and execute effective legal strategies in a wide range of disputes. These matters include patent infringement, trademark litigation, copyright enforcement, licensing conflicts, and trade secret misappropriation. Whether defending a longstanding business asset or pursuing action against infringing parties, we tailor our approach to each client's goals and risk profile.

With decades of experience representing both plaintiffs and defendants, our IP litigation lawyers bring seasoned perspective and practical insight to every case. We understand the technical and commercial pressures involved in high-stakes IP disputes and focus on achieving favorable, cost-effective outcomes.

Our practice has earned national recognition, including consistent rankings in Chambers USA and Best Law Firms as a top-tier intellectual property law firm in Washington. Clients and peers value our team's strategic thinking, responsiveness, and ability to handle matters that span multiple jurisdictions and technologies.
