Foster Garvey

Intellectual Property, Privacy & Technology

Protecting your innovations is our top priority

We understand how critically important identifying and securing your intellectual property is for your business and brand and the complexities that come with that. Our team is ready to help in the process of safeguarding your IP assets and maximizing your portfolio.

Whether you're an individual inventor, a startup or a global leader, we deliver clear, practical advice regarding patents, trademarks, copyrights, trade secrets, domain names and agreements to help you confidently protect your innovations and ideas and unlock the value of your intellectual property.

Clients across various industries, such as health care, aerospace, software, robotics and sports equipment, rely on us for guidance on everything from patent filings and trademark protection to privacy and emerging technology issues.

We regularly advise clients on drafting and negotiating a wide range of commercial agreements for licensing, technology transfers and joint ventures. We'll partner closely with you to structure agreements that secure your interests and foster growth.

Our team provides critical support on privacy and data protection matters, including privacy policies, trade secret protocols, cybersecurity preparedness, risk assessments and compliance, investigations, and related disputes and litigation, all in line with your business and IP development and protection goals.
