Law Seminars International 32nd Annual Advanced Comprehensive Conference

February 19-20, 2026 Interactive Online Broadcast

Join Bob Sterbank on February 19, 2026, at the Law Seminars International 32nd Annual Advanced Comprehensive Conference on Land Use and the Growth Management Act.

Bob serves as co-chair of the program and will present on "The Implementation of Housing & Related Legislation," providing an update on the Growth Management Hearings Board's August 2025 decision in Futurewise v. Mercer Island, examining the issues now on appeal, and offering a public-policy perspective on what should happen next to effectively address Washington's housing challenges.

This two-day virtual conference offers an in-depth look into Washington's most pressing land use issues, with a strong focus on affordable housing, state policy developments and practical strategies for planning professionals. Attendees will hear updates on shoreline rulemaking, critical areas, wildfire risk, water supply constraints and climate-related regulatory challenges. Visit the Law Seminars International website for more information.
