Municipal Law

Helping you uplift and strengthen the communities you serve

We provide comprehensive legal guidance to cities, counties and other public entities, equipping them with the knowledge they need to navigate the diverse challenges of governing and serving communities. With extensive experience across Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Alaska, our attorneys offer trusted advice on the day-to-day legal matters that impact municipalities, from public records and open meeting laws to contract negotiations, land use and environmental compliance.

For more than a century, we have worked closely with local governments to address sophisticated issues such as public safety, labor and employment, procurement and public works. Our team is well versed in developing policy solutions, drafting ordinances and representing municipalities in litigation and administrative proceedings. With a long history of advising governmental agencies in public finance matters, we regularly assist clients with tax levies, bond issuances and other critical funding mechanisms, aligning each financial tool with the broader goals of community growth and development.

Whether supporting infrastructure projects, advising on regulatory compliance or crafting innovative public-private partnerships, we understand the nuances of municipal operations and empower clients to operate at their best.
