“The Impact of Generative AI and the Legal System,” OWLS Annual Fall CLE

November 7, 2024 Portland, OR

Justice Brooks is presenting at the upcoming Oregon Women Lawyers (OWLS) Fall CLE on Thursday, November 7, focusing on the impacts of artificial intelligence on the legal system. This year's CLE shifts the focus from AI's role in enhancing client services and internal workflows to its broader implications for justice and ethics in civil courts.

In the session, “Artificial Intelligence in the Civil Courts: Improving or Impairing Access to Justice?” Justice will examine how AI technologies could influence access to justice and discuss critical questions attorneys should consider when implementing these tools. This presentation offers timely insights for legal professionals navigating the evolving role of AI in the legal field.

Learn more and register for the event on OWLS’ website.
